

What to Do about Personnel Problems in Connecticut

Now also available on

CD-ROM

• Subscribe to this quick-access, five-part information service, and you'll wonder how you ever found your way through the employment regulation maze without it.

Here's what you get:

1. Comprehensive Answer Manual: Print version or new CD-Rom

Find the answer to nearly any human resource question in seconds--more than 160 topics are covered in depth. Written just for you in Connecticut, the information is indexed, tabbed, and organized alphabetically for quick reference to any topic (revisions provided three times each year).

You'll find Connecticut's specific personnel laws--as well as all appropriate federal laws--spelled out in clear, concise English, with recommendations for action so you'll know how to proceed. And if there's conflict or overlap between state and federal regulations, the manual will tell you which regulations take precedence.

Looking for the latest information on Connecticut's new law on arrest records? The revised regulations on SPDs and benefit-claims handling procedures? Connecticut's updated standards on exempt classification? You'll find easy-to-understand explanations of every important human resources topic here.

2. National & Connecticut Newsletter--Every Month!

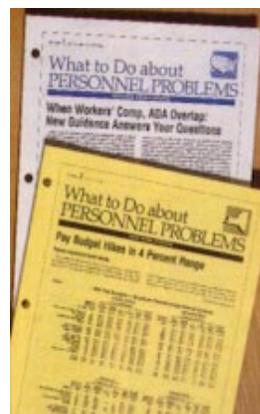

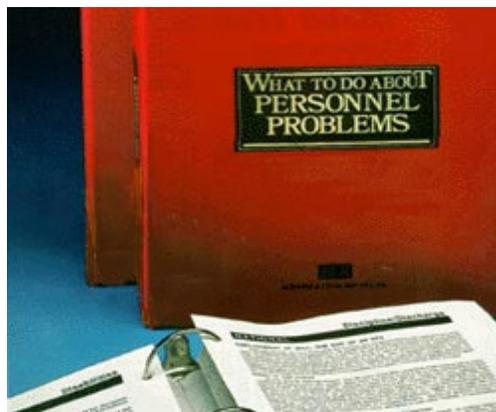

Every month you'll receive TWO informative personnel newsletters--our National News Update, which features late-breaking HR news at the national level, and our Connecticut HR Reports Newsletter, covering specific developments in our state. In just 15 minutes of reading, you'll get advance warning of important human resource developments affecting employers in Connecticut, and practical advice for doing your job better.

Critical areas covered in recent issues include:

- Merit budget forecasts
- FMLA & ADA
- Employee drug testing
- AIDS in the workplace
- Employee handbooks
- Recruiting trends
- Trends in benefits
- Affirmative action
- Safety committees
- Absenteeism & Turnover
- Workers' compensation
- Unemployment comp
- References
- Implied contracts
- HR and the internet
- Electronic monitoring
- Revised I-9 rules
- and much, much more.

• Easy to Understand! Written for busy human resource managers in ordinary English, not legalese.

• Save Time and Effort! Find answers to troublesome questions in minutes!

3. Compensation and Benefits Surveys

It takes current information to keep your organization competitive. As a subscriber, you'll receive exclusive surveys of benefits and compensation, tabulated by metropolitan area, geographic region, size of organization, and industry.

You get:

- Employee Compensation Survey that gives you up-to-date information on the compensation situation in Connecticut...for more than 100 different executive, exempt, and non-exempt jobs.
- Employee Benefits Survey lets you easily compare your benefits package to other employers.

4. Website Access and Weekly Electronic "eNews" Bulletins

Want to know about HR news even more quickly? Our website's "subscribers-only" area provides a variety of HR-related information and resources, including our weekly electronic bulletins--you get the most up-to-date and late-breaking news electronically--when it happens!

5. Exclusive "Hot-Line" Service

Need to talk with a knowledgeable HR professional rather than to someone's voicemail? As a subscriber, if you ever need further assistance, our editors are ready to handle your call. Or, you can Fax us or send us E-mail.

With comprehensive coverage of both state and national developments, there's no service like it.
